Heart Land: Where Faiths Connect

Unitarian Universalists come together not only to do the business of our association, but also to learn from one another and from presenters, to worship and witness together, and to focus together on questions and commitments facing our faith today. We form a learning community. As you prepare for General Assembly in Columbus, we ask that you prepare your mind, heart, and spirit for what you will experience. Get ready to learn, to grow spiritually, and to increase your capacity to be a leader in your own faith community and in your local context!

Here are three ways to prepare.

UPAWS is a local non-profit organization run and staffed by your neighbors. We make decisions on caring for homeless, unwanted, abandoned and abused domestic animals based on what we believe is best for them. We have no affiliation with any larger group and we receive no funding from any larger group that might influence our decisions or actions. We advocate only for the animals in our care to help them find their forever home with you.

Sunday Service & Potluck @ Presque Isle JULY 3	"I'm Gonna Wear Red Today: The Spirituality and Aesthetics of Clothing" Presenters: February Sky (Susan Urban & Phil Cooper) The clothing we choose to wear is more than just a way to cover our bodies, it is a statement to the world of who we are. This will not be a service on being "fashionable," but on developing one's own unique style that is independent of fleeting fashion trends. Everyone who attends this service is invited to wear something that expresses who they are and that makes them feel good to be seen by others! This service will be held at the Pavilion at Presque Isle Park, with a potluck to follow.

While so many are struggling with the events of the past week, we're sending love to you and yours at this hard time. This week, thousands of UU's are headed to Columbus, OH for our General Assembly. We wanted to make sure that people received the public report we created based on the assessment we did of 'Standing on the Side of Love' from January to April 2016. Check out the Executive Report here.

When I took this job, I knew that my priority was to ask questions and listen before making any moves. I wanted the next chapter of Standing on the Side of Love to be informed by the congregations and individuals who loved it and had been using it as a way to put their faith in action. I also knew that I wanted a group of movement leaders--particularly spiritually-rooted activists in the Movement for Black Lives, Immigrant Rights, and LGBTQ Liberation--to inform us towards our next steps.

The result is this assessment report: full of quotes, insights, terms and ideas that the people we interviewed and surveyed so generously shared with us. We have used this report and our own vision and experience (as well as a month worth of information gathered from our UUA staff colleagues) to craft work for SSL in 2016 and early 2017. Click here to see the full report.

We wanted to make sure we did not wait any longer to release it because we want to give credit to the people who shared insights with us, and also because we want people to learn as much as we did from the conversations collected here.

Hope it is of interest to you.

Absolute best,
Caitlin Breedlove
